Winemakers Tasting Notes:

The 2012 growing season gave use pristine grapes and gives you wine with deep color that portends the depth of the wine. The aromas range from ripe Damson plum, to toasted vanilla and mint. It takes several swirls to harvest all of the generous aromas.

The flavor profile reminds me of the 2005 harvest. The long growing season gives the wine very fine tannins that assist the broad delivery of fruit and spice. Sweetness gives way to black elderberry, mission fig, black currant and toasted vanilla notes. Very smooth body stays on your palette a long time. Friends and family are always the best accompaniment. Cheers!
